Supporting our colleagues and business partners during this time of uncertainty

March 19, 2020

At this time of great uncertainty, AXIS is committed to providing the underwriting expertise and claims service our clients and distribution partners deserve and expect. To help protect the safety of our team members, business partners and communities, most of our colleagues globally are working remotely. In addition, we have paused business travel across the entirety of our company.

We are fully operational with our teams using virtual meeting and collaboration tools to stay connected internally with our colleagues and externally with our clients and distribution partners. And we are prepared to address the business interruption concerns that may arise for our clients and partners in distribution.

We are monitoring COVID-19 and the guidance from the World Health Organization and government authorities in every region in which we have operations. We are committed to protecting the health and safety of our colleagues while continuing to deliver superior client service and responsiveness.

We are grateful for the continued trust and partnership of our clients and distribution partners. Please contact us here with any questions or needs you may have in the coming days and weeks.
